Conference

Neighborhood volunteers and community leaders came together to give the historic Beckert Building a makeover. The Beckert Building is located in the Deutschtown's business district. The building was built in 1886 and served as the community's grocery store through the 1920's.

The make-over projects hope to attract a variety of businesses to the first floor commercial space as well as continue to providing housing on the upper floors.

This project was truly a community effort to improve the historic Deutschtown business district for City of Pittsburgh residents and visitors.
